bellings hands keeping, protecting and embellishing these graves with flowers and delicate shrubs! With each recurring year you see loyal hearts and willing hands, on decoration day, placing themselves upon these 16,000 graves!
 With each recurring year you will see the same flowers, the same greenery, the same sedate strangers clad in the livid of mourning, with bowed heads and searching eyes looking for the rest-place of some loved one! Each recurring year writes page after page in a great book kept in the stone house registering the names of visitors, their pilgrim feet with solemn advance go up these terraced hills! The recurring year brings its retinue of soldiers, historians, Congressmen, Senates and military men! In

TY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF
OF THE STATE MAINE.
 To the honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the Legislature assembled:
 The petition of the subscribers respectively shewing that certain valuable lands situated along the West Branch of the Ellis River, now called in the County of York, State of Maine; that lumber cut on said territory has been unlawfully and feloniously cut and that, in order to remedy or reach a market for log driving on said river certain obstructions have been placed in the channel, and the same widened and deepened, and dams, sluiceways, and other works have been constructed in and along the same.
 That the said lands are a grant for the above named purposes, and also that the said subscribers are entitled to the same, and that they are authorized to collect a reasonable toll for the use of the said river, and that they have sought or brought and paid such part thereof as may be lawfully collected, and that they are entitled to recover the balance thereof.
 And your petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

 Lisbon, Me., Sept. 19th, A. D. 1884.

He began the sale of Pansy seeds of his own raising. This year he is more expensive in the business. He has with him two beds each of the plants filled with the most beautiful and varied blossoms. From these he selects the choicest seeds, and sells in large overhead tubs. His beds are of sufficient extent to furnish the seeds of a great number of plants, and he is one to whom he is always glad to send whom he makes welcome in a hospitable manner. In addition to the plants mentioned, he has numerous varieties of the pansy which he has originated, some of them of his own and four distinct varieties of foliage.
These are very desirable plants either for foliage or blossoms. Mr. Woodman has also a very fine seedling plant of the pansy, which he is offering early and productive, which is a squash, which is across the middle of the seed. He has been raising pansies for years, and also a number of different
